

Publication Ethics Statement

The Journal of Dramatic Theory and Criticism enforces a rigorous peer-review process and strict ethical policies and standards to ensure the addition of high-quality scholarship to the fields of theatre and performance studies. The editors of JDTC take such infringements of publishing ethics as plagiarism, image manipulation, and inappropriate authorship credit very seriously. Our staff is trained to proceed in such cases with a zero tolerance policy.

Authors wishing to publish their essays in the JDTC must abide by the following:

- Any facts that may be perceived as a possible conflict of interest of the author(s) must be disclosed in the essay prior to submission.
- Simultaneous submission of manuscripts to more than one journal is not tolerated.
- Republishing content that is not original is not tolerated (for example, an English translation of a paper that is already published in another language will not be accepted).
- If you include already published figures or images, please obtain all necessary permissions.
- If errors and inaccuracies are found by our authors after publication of their essays, please promptly communicate these errors to the journal editors so that appropriate actions can be taken.
- Plagiarism will not be tolerated.