

Meet Amy Virginia Buchanan. She has a non-traditional arts career. Learn how she did it.

Friday, March 6

Noon to 1:30 p.m.

Murphy Hall 201

Bring your lunch and learn about Amy's experiences in New York City and building a non-traditional career in the arts that makes use of one's school and work force experience. Discussion moderated by Henry Bial.

Amy Virginia Buchanan is an actor, writer, musician, and producer in New York City. Her educational background is in theatre and linguistics from the University of Kansas, and devised ensemble performance which she studied at Dell'Arte International School of Physical Theatre. See more at www.amyvirginia.com.